St. Bernard Coal Company.

INCORPORATED.

The complete report of the Southern Ry. Co. for the year ended June 30th has been issued. It contains in addition to President Spencer's report, tables showing the financial condition of the company and the details of the year's operations. The classification of tonnage shows that in the year 31,000,000 coal furnished 35.37 per cent. of the commercial freight moved, lumber and logs 9.04 per cent.; merchandise 6.39 per cent., and cotton 5.44 per cent. The table shows a list of forty-nine classes of freight carried over the company's roads, none except those mentioned above contributing as much as 5 per cent. of the total.

For the rich, who think soft wool blankets and down covering the only covering permissible for the bed, such economies are of little interest, but to those who have to make a not too robust monthly salary cover a multitude of ills, such plans are beneficial.

The patchwork that our mothers spent spare hours upon is far too tedious for the modern housewife.

THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13, 1905.

It is the Fairy. So spoke an old land! timer, world-traveler, critic, familiar with the brilliant boulevards of Paris, and satiated with the far-famed illuminations of Baden-Baden. All this was in his mind when he turned short, threw down his cigar, and broke off an earnest business talk to gaze spell-bound upon the unmatched loveliness of Piedmont Park.

"I have seen Paris '50, and the World's Fair, and the Centennial, but this beats them all."

It was more than fairly said. Titania's spirit could pierce a pearl in every cowbird's eye, but it was a greater than Titania who caught ten thousand scintillating stars and brought them to earth as ornaments for architecture. If Shakespeare lived again, he would re-embellish the world with the Piedmont Park would be the home of whole cycles of suns, and all nature would go into a kind of pyrotechnic trance!

A Cool Ex- The exhibit of cool is far the best ever made.

The last of Mining Engineers gave this exhibit high praise and it is so arranged that the average visitor, unskilled in the technique of mineralogy, may appreciate its value.

Another fine exhibit of minerals is in the lower story of the Georgia Building, where a perfect sphere of marble, four feet in diameter, is poised on a solid piece of marble twenty-one feet long. Both are from Pickett county. Dr. Yeates, the State Geologist, has also a fine display of building stones, as well as a general display of the minerals of the State.

The St. Bernard Coal Company, of Earlington, Hopkins County, Kentucky, exhibits sections of two veins of coal, No. 9 being 5 ft. 9 in. thick, and No. 11, 7 ft. 6 in. thick. The coal is of the best quality, and is being used for the purpose of making gas.

The Young and Mrs. Susan Turner, of Earlington, are entertained a number of young people last Monday night.

Among the attendants, we note the presence of Misses Nannie Stuckey, Desha, Lizzie Hunt, Alice Day, Sallie Colbert and Annie Cowell. Among the gentlemen present were Messrs. Henry Bourland, Ernest Stokes, Theo. Watts and Jesse Phillips.

Several people enjoyed a pleasant evening and a good time. The young people of the merry-go-round and the amusements.

A Great Edu- The Exposition is a great educator.

It gives days of unalloyed pleasure, and with it, gives a most intellectual horizon, and a broader comprehension of life. No one can go through that great exhibit of the government without having his patriotism more deeply implanted in him. The multitudinous functions of a great government reveal to the people who it serves. It touches their lives in high places, and the great masses are below, in the valleys of humanity, a great substratum, under the throbbing machinery of State, and moving at long intervals when some seismic force impels them to revolution; but here they are, like the everlasting armies beneath the cherubim, the invisible greatness behind this concrete expression. There is nothing under and greater as a human soul, and the outward semblance of our government has an intimate meaning when we think of the seventy million souls behind it.

These are the creators of governments, and it makes no difference what written constitution we have, the people will shape them according to their own sweet will. Our future will be no brighter, our government no wiser than they, and the enlightening of the masses, the uplifting and brightening of their minds, is the grand motive which moves a great enterprise like this Exposition. A motive like this is worthy of the princely gift of $50,000 by the Chairman, and the magnificent contribution of the patriotic districts.

It didn't Se Mr. Will Phillips, the Point.

Monday, had a pretty close call at last. It seems that a large nail had been driven through the overhead lagging and left sticking through at an angle with the point downward. Unmindful of this, Will, while hunting by perched upon his car, the projecting point caught his head and tore off his cap, at the same time inflicting a long scalp wound. He is at present dressing his head, and is thankful his lucky stars that he did not get hurt.

What a Minister Says.

George Thayer, Minister of the First Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga., says:

"I have seen Paris '50, and the World's Fair, and the Centennial, but this beats them all."

It was more than fairly said. Titania's spirit could pierce a pearl in every cowbird's eye, but it was a greater than Titania who caught ten thousand scintillating stars and brought them to earth as ornaments for architecture.
